

Day 17 – Encouragement in the Journey

Scripture

“Wherefore comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do.”
– 1 Thessalonians 5:11 (KJV)

Insight

Encouragement is a lifeline in mentorship. A spiritual father doesn’t just correct—he builds up. He speaks faith into the weary heart and hope into the discouraged soul. Even the strongest leaders have moments of weakness, and in those times, the words of a spiritual father can rekindle courage and confidence.

Encouragement is not flattery—it is the recognition of God’s work in someone’s life and a reminder of His promises.

Reflective Questions

- How often do I intentionally speak encouragement into those I lead?

Actionable Steps

- Write down three encouraging truths from Scripture and share them with someone you are mentoring this week.

Prayer

Lord, let my words be seasoned with grace and encouragement, lifting the hearts of those around me.

Declaration

I am a source of encouragement and strength to others in their walk of faith.

God bless you!
